

ANOKA COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE SHERIFF JAMES STUART

FRIDAY UPDATE: 05.17.19

We have mentioned this before, and after reading a report this week where a parent called and asked a deputy to talk to her son about his behavior. When the deputy arrived, the child ran away from him crying in fear because his mother had told him if he was naughty, the deputy was going to arrest him. Unfortunately, the deputy wasn't aware of this until he had a chance to speak with the child.

Parents, stop. That is a horrible thing to tell a child – and if you hear anyone saying that, please educate them. So many times, especially when we are out attending events, we hear parents say “if you are bad, the police will arrest you” to their children. We don't want children to be fearful of police; we want them to know that we are their friends and we are there to help them. We want them to be confident that if they need help, they can come find us or call us.

Please feel free to pass this message along to friends, family, or strangers.
